Toyota Highlander 2001

Price: 1800

This Highlander has been in my family since it was purchased brand new around 2001. Regular maintenance throughout ownership. Drives straight, shifts smoothly. Runs strong at 272,830 miles. Selling it because I purchased a new car. Cosmetic issues: ripped seats, fading/blistering paint, blown speaker, steering wheel makes a small squeaking noise when turning, rear driver side window doesn't roll down. Mechanical: Check engine light on, no cool air on driver side, temp stuck at 75. Selling as-is

2005 KTM 450 - Plated, Street legal

$4500

Black with white tank, recent top end rebuild, new brake pads, large gas tank, LED headlight, heated grips, Trail Tech Voyager GPS/speedometer

Some special stuff:

- LECTRON Jetless carb, not affected by altitude changes (so I'm told, have not tried it myself). Have stock one too
- Removable lowering kit installed (it's still tall but not as bad as stock)
- Electric start with a good sealed battery
- TWO sets of rims for quick and easy change from full dirt knobbies to your favorite street tires
- I have an old REKLUSE automatic clutch to include as well. I preferred a normal clutch, others prefer an automatic unit - your choice, it's pretty easy to install.

Kittens for Adoption

Price: 75

Oliver is very affectionate, loves kisses and to be held. He balances on his back legs and stretches to be picked up.

Teeny is small and loves to be cuddled and will fall asleep in your arms while purring. She loves playing on a cat tree.

Domino is adventurous, curious and dives under blankets. He runs with toy mice in his mouth tossing them in the air.

Vaccinations/neutered/spayed/microchipped prior to adoption being finalized. Kittens MUST be indoors.
Money is to offset costs.

Wanted

Wanted - mini bike or go-cart project

I'm looking for a minibike, go-cart or similar project to do with my kids. I just picked up a 6 hp Briggs and Stratton engine that we'll rebuild and I'm looking for a vehicle to put it in.

Thanks!
